NOVEMBER IS OUR FOUNDATION MONTH

November is a time for all Rotarians to consider the many ways in which they can support Foundation programs and projects around the world.

It is also a good time to submit our contributions to The Rotary Foundation. If your club is considering giving one two or three PHF recognitions at changeover, commit and send the funds to Parramatta now and nominate the recipients at a later date. This strategy prevents the funds being used for other projects in the interim and it also ensures that the funds will be part of the current year's contributions. Instead of slipping over in to the 2004-5 year..

To celebrate "Foundation Month" I have decided, in conjunction with District Chairman, PDG Dug Graydon to launch the "Rotary Foundation Roadshow". Members of the roadshow team will visit your club to explain the mysteries of the Rotary Foundation to your members so presidents please make room in your club's program to accommodate this innovation.

The Foundation is our most effective vehicle for fighting hunger, poverty, disease, and illiteracy. People who are deprived of life's basic necessities understandably may feel fear, hopelessness, and desperation — emotions that can breed anger and intolerance and even lead to violence. Through the Foundation, we can carry out humanitarian projects that improve the standard of living worldwide. These efforts will provide a stable foundation for peace and promote international understanding.

In 2002, The Rotary Foundation embarked on a visionary program that provides advanced education and practical training in the field of international relations and diplomacy.

Each year, 70 scholars study at seven Rotary Centers for International Studies in peace and conflict resolution. Our hope is that these gifted men and women will be tomorrow's international leaders, diplomats, and peacemakers.

The Foundation offers Rotarians an opportunity to participate in humanitarian and educational projects that make a difference. They can refurbish a school, build a water well, deliver medical supplies, provide vocational training, and immunize a child. The Rotary Foundation allows Rotarians to transform their ideas into action and turn dreams into reality.

Through this year's Presidential Celebrations, we encourage Foundation-supported efforts by providing information and resources for participants. Many Rotarians have attended project fairs and forums where they have met potential partners for service. These can lead to successful applications for Foundation grants that benefit both donors and recipients.

As we approach our centennial in 2005, we can take pride in all that we have accomplished through the Foundation. Each Club in District 9640 has been requested to contribute $110 (Australian) to the foundation. This will allow us to continue so many worthwhile projects that deserve funding through our grant programs. It is our personal investment in peace, in hope, and in ourselves.

As Carol Bellamy, executive director of UNICEF, has said, "Rotary has won a place of respect in the global village — in fact, Rotary has helped make the world a global village."

WHY WE SUPPORT OUR FOUNDATION

Extract from a letter from past Ambassadorial scholar to D9640, Lynne Adams

"Oh, and yes I am now a fully fledged Rotarian. I have been in for about a month or so and I really like it. I belong to the Rotary Club of West Jacksonville. It has about 150 members and only a dozen are women.

Needless to say, I am the youngest. When I joined, I told them I knew the only reason they wanted me was because I would drive down their average age by about 30 years. Overall, everyone is lovely. Mr. Gay, a local contractor, is the one who invited me to join, and let's just say no one tells him no. He is one of the city's most influential leaders and I really felt honoured that he would invite me to join.

It is kind of funny. Who would have thought one day I would be having lunch every week with several elected officials who always say hello when we bump into each other around the city, not to mention my mom's boss.

Somedays I wonder how everything has become what I now call my life and I shake my head. If you would have told me 5 years ago, I would live in Australia, have a Masters Degree in International Diplomacy no less, be invited by one Jacksonville's most influential men to join a really great club at such a young age, I would have said you were crazy, but look. Who would have thought?"

A PROJECT IN OUR REGION FOR YOUR INTERACT CLUB??

In 1994, shoe boxes filled with toys, food and household items were sent by Rotarians in District 1280 to Romania and Moldova at Christmas. This scheme has now been adopted by all of RIBI as an international project with most clubs in Britain and Ireland taking part. To date over 150,000 boxes of gifts have been distributed. Inner Wheel clubs, schools and other organizations have also participated. The scheme is simple: a supply of specially printed shoe boxes are filled with the basic necessities. They are then sent to a central location, loaded onto a large truck and sent overland to the orphans and poor families of Eastern Europe. Rotarians or partnership groups such as Spurgeons, Hope and Homes, or church leaders in the countries receiving the gifts help to distribute them, ensuring they go to the most needy. This is now a year-round activity and boxes have been delivered to Romania, Moldavia, Ukraine, Belarus, Albania, and most recently Turkey following the earthquake in that country. School children also play a large role in helping fill the boxes, hence the name "Children Helping Children." For more information see: www.rotary1280.org/shoebox.

THE FAMILY OF ROTARY

One of the most simple and innovative programs I have encountered during my travels around the district was the ROTFAM initiative of the Rotary Club of Glen Innes. An acronym for the "family of Rotary" the ROTFAM initiative consists of purchasing badges for kids and grandkids of Rotarian club members. The badges have the words "ROTFAM and the names of the children printed on them. The kids are invited to meetings where they are incorporated into conducting the meeting. This is a simple and fun way for kids to become involved in Rotary and is an investment in Rotary's future because in years to come these kids will remember how they used to have fun at mum or dad's Rotary Club and in due course be prime candidates for membership.

2003-2004 Presidential Celebrations

What a difference a day makes

- Attend a local Presidential Celebration
- Spend a day learning about one pressing issue
- Lend a Hand in your community

RI President Jonathan B. Majiyagbe has slated 15 one-day Presidential Celebrations for the 2003-04 Rotary year to spotlight outstanding Rotary projects and initiatives in various parts of the world. Each mini-conference will have a specific focus — either a service activity of Rotary International or its Foundation or a general issue such as alleviation of poverty. Participants will have the opportunity to share their experiences and insights.

Replacing presidential conferences, the celebrations will be planned by local Rotarians, who will organize them and handle registration, helping to keep the events affordable and maximize opportunities for participation. The celebrations are open to all Rotarians and their guests.

The complete schedule of 2003-04 Presidential Celebrations includes contact and registration information. Make plans now to spend a day with President Majiyagbe at the celebration nearest you.

WANTED: ROTARY CRICKETERS FOR TOUR OPPORTUNITIES!

The International Fellowship of Cricketing Rotarians is offering special fellowship and tour opportunities to Rotarians throughout Australia and New Zealand at the present time.

So much so that the respective chairmen of the New Zealand and Australian IFCR Committees, Brian Morgan of Christchurch, New Zealand, and Charlie Townsing of Maryborough, Victoria, have issued an invitation to former cricketers and/or cricket supporters to register their names with the Fellowship and help take up the opportunities on offer.

Rotarians who may wish to re-start their cricket "career", or Rotarians who merely wish to enjoy the fellowship and the sport as spectators are invited to contact any of the following people for further information:

*Charlie Townsing-

chastown@netconnect.com.au

*Brian Morgan - brianmor@clear.net.nz

*GraemeAmoore-Margra@ausfine.com.au

The New Zealand and Australian IFCR Committees have also developed excellent web sites which contain a wealth of Rotary cricket information www.rotarnet.com.au/IFCR in Australia, and www.rotarnet.com.au/users/lfcr/New_Zealand/NZ_index.htm in New Zealand.

ARRHF- BOWELSCAN SCHOLARSHIP

Led by chairman Kevin Hassey the District 9640 Bowelscan Committee with the support of many of the district's clubs has raised $30,000. This is a remarkable effort in any person's language and all involved are to be congratulated.

Together with an amount of $45,000 raised by D9650 this money is to be donated to ARHRF who will match it dollar for dollar, to fund two, three year research scholarships in the area of bowel cancer.

The scholarships will be known as the "ARRHF Bowelscan Scholarship" and will be offered in NSW and Southern Queensland only. The Australian Rotary Health Research Fund will administer them.

Rotary Bowelscan, the testing of faeces for blood, was started in 1982 by the Rotary Club of Lismore, when Dr Bill Brand, a member of the Club, felt that by doing the test, many lives would be saved by the early diagnoses of abnormalities in the bowel due to bleeding. Bowel Cancer was one of the abnormalities found in many people.

Because of the success of the program in Lismore, more Rotary Clubs started the program and by 1990 a National Bowelscan program started which covered the East Coast of Australia.

There have been over 200,000 kits have been sold in District 9640 and there were over 1256 diagnosed cases of Bowel Cancer, which means that 1256 lives in District 9640 have been saved. This includes many Rotarians

Nationally, there have been approximately one million kits tested and over 7,500 bowel cancer have been diagnosed.

Lionel Phelps a member of the Lismore Club was one of the committee who was instrumental in getting the program up and running and he was the National Executive Officer of the National Body, a position he has held for 13 years.

The success of the program is due, in great part, to the hard work, dedication and perseverance of Lionel Phelps.

All Rotary Clubs involved in Bowelscan have saved lives, which is a record we can all be proud of. If all Clubs currently not involved in Bowelscan became part of the Rotary program, how many more lives could Rotary save??? Last year, in our district, clubs sold 13,250 bowelscan kits, which produced 85 positive results. Although not all positive results prove malignant it is reasonable to estimate that 50% of positive results prove malignant. This equates to a possible 43 lives the Bowelscan project has saved last year alone.

GROUP EIGHT LEADS THE WAY

Although each Rotary Club the world over is autonomous, we must not confuse autonomy with isolationism. Part of the joy of belonging to Rotary is the opportunity for fellowship that is presented to us. Too often some Clubs and their members don't venture beyond their own comfort zone. They don't visit other clubs, don't do make ups, don't attend functions organised by neighbouring clubs, don't bother to attend the District Conference, in short they become "don't" clubs.

The seven clubs in group eight are not of that persuasion. On Wednesday 22nd October, I had the pleasure of attending when the clubs had a joint meeting hosted by the minnow Tamborine Mountain Club. Guest speaker was Hugh Lunn, author of "Over the Top with Jim" fame who held the attention of the hundred and twenty guest for nearly an hour and had them clamouring for more.

The evening raised over $600 for youth programs and the few minor problems with the sound system and cramped conditions only added to the fun atmosphere.

Congratulations group eight, AG Ed Ahern and all those who contributed.

Can the other eight groups in our District match this effort?

Surfers Paradise West membership up 30%

Whilst most of Australia was celebrating the start of the World Rugby Cup 2003 in early October, the Rotary Club of Surfers Paradise West was holding its own celebrations for an impressive increase of nine new members within the first three months of this Rotary year.

"I believe that our impressive increase in membership," said President Kerry Crawford "is due in no small part to the commitment and vibrancy of our club." As a large smile spread from ear to ear, he added, "And I'm particularly proud that it happened during my year!"

Amongst their many and varied community projects President Kerry listed the 10-unit Rotary Retirement Village that they built and now manage in Labrador, the Youth Exchange Students they have been hosting for many years - their member John Campbell who runs this programme is actually a former youth exchange student himself! - their scholarship programme which supports three highly commendable students at Griffiths University and the $10,000 they just spent on seven deserving Gold Coast families to purchase much-needed home equipment for their handicapped children. They are also solid supporters of our Rotary Foundation.

In addition, the club also believes in supporting other Rotary Clubs, and have cancelled their Christmas Party in order to join several other Rotary Clubs attending the Rotary Club of Runaway Bay's Christmas Caribbean Party.

Lessons From Geese

(or Rowing in the same direction?)

"When geese fly in formation, as each goose flaps its wings it creates uplift for the bird following. By flying in V formation, the whole flock adds 71% more flying range than if each bird flew alone.

Lesson: People who share a common direction and sense of community can go further and get there quicker and easier because they are travelling on the thrust of one another.

When a goose falls out of formation, it suddenly feels the drag and resistance of trying to fly alone and quickly gets back into formation to take advantage of the lifting power of the bird immediately in front.

Lesson: If we have as much sense as a goose, we will stay in formation with those who are headed where we want to go.

When a bird gets tired, it rotates back into formation and another goose flies to the point position.

Lesson: It pays to take turns doing the hard tasks and sharing leadership with people.

The geese in formation honk from behind to encourage those in front to keep up their speed.

Lesson: We need to make sure our honking from behind is encouraging and motivating. Not something less than helpful

When a goose gets sick, wounded or shot, two geese drop out of formation and follow it down to help and protect it.

Lesson: If we have as much sense as geese, we will stand by each other."

I borrowed this analogy from The South Grafton Sunrise Bulletin. (Yes they are one of the clubs who send me copies of their Bulletin!)

BEAUDESERT ROTARY

by Joy Drescher, President 2003/2004

Over the last few years, Beaudesert Rotary has helped another local organisation, Beaudesert Rail, to get up and running by assisting with fund-raising, working bees and by just being supportive.

The original railway line was mothballed by Queensland Rail and the very last train went out of Beaudesert with a shipment of cattle in June 1996. Shortly thereafter, a meeting was called in Logan Village with a view to reviving the line as a tourist venture. As I was an honorary Rotarian at the time, I asked the Rotary Club of Beaudesert to become involved, which they agreed to do, as the project was seen as a boon to the town.

For our first really big fund-raiser, I asked then Rotary President Ray Yuill if Rotary would help run a Swim-a-thon. With Rotary's unstinting support we raised just over $3,000 that night.

Together with a five million dollar grant from the Federal Government and the fruits of many, many more fundraisers by the Rotary Club, the project has now come to fruition. A local blacksmith, Adrian Hobba, was commissioned by Rotary to manufacture a sign at the station to reflect Rotary's commitment to the project.

Beaudesert Rail has a smart looking C17 Steam Engine No. 967 that pulls six wonderfully restored carriages. In a previous life C17 No. 967 had been the pride and joy of the Caloundra Rotary Club. Beaudesert Rail has a print of this loco with the Rotary Wheel proudly attached to the front of the boiler as it resided in Caloundra. (See photo herewith).

Is it merely a coincidence that a once revered icon of the Caloundra Rotary Club has now become a much revered icon proudly sponsored by the Beaudesert Rotary Club, or is it true how life's coincidences are really stranger than fiction?

THEY HAD A BALL FOR CHARITY

Congratulations President Joan McDermott-Havilland and all the members of the Rotary Club of Surfers Paradise Central for running a very slick, professionally presented Charity Auction Ball. Gillian and I were honoured to be invited to attend and we "had a ball."

Attended by more than three hundred revellers the ball was a sell out and raised in excess of fifty thousand dollars for Cystic Fibrosis, Hopewell Hospice and our Rotary Foundation.

The function was so successful that people had to be turned away and as a result a larger venue is planned for next year.

Good one Surfers Central!

Interact clubs celebrate World Interact Week

More than 40 years ago, in November 1962, Rotarians in Melbourne, Fla., USA, founded the first Interact club to introduce young people to the ideals of service, responsible leadership, and international cooperation. Two months later, the Interact Club of Tanjore, India, was established, giving the program an international presence. Today, there are 9,164 Interact clubs in 114 countries. During World Interact Week 3-9 November, clubs will carry out community service projects to raise awareness of the program. Interact clubs and their Rotary sponsors are asked to incorporate the following activities into 2003 World Interact Week celebrations:

1. Give a presentation or write an inspiring letter about Interact to a Rotary club that does not sponsor an Interact club.
2. Invite Rotarians to an Interact club meeting.
3. Invite Interactors to a weekly Rotary club meeting.
4. Conduct a joint Rotary-Interact project to increase awareness of Interact in the community.

Clubs that complete all four recommended activities of the World Interact Week program and document their work on the entry form provided by RI's Programs Division will receive special recognition. To request a form, e-mail interact@rotaryintl.org. Forms also are available for download at the RI Web site.

ETHICS

How Good People Make Tough Choices- Resolving the Dilemmas of Ethical Living by: Rushworth M. Kidder

You're walking through an outdoor shopping mall one day when the woman ahead of you opens her purse and pulls out a handkerchief. Unknown to her, a ten-dollar bill floats out of her purse onto the pavement. You pick it up and hand it back to her. You have just invoked a rule or maxim—in this case, "Don't ever steal"—that you would wish to see universalized. It's not hard to see that, if everyone in the world did what you have just done in similar circumstances, the world would indeed be a better place.

But suppose it's later in the day and you're eating an ice-cream cone. You've nearly finished, except for the soggy, damp, and altogether unappealing butt-end of the cone. You're worried that, if you hold it much longer, the melted ice cream will begin running down your hand and along your arm. There's not a trash container to be seen. There is, however, a low hedge beside you, under which are lodged a few bits of trash. You consider chucking the cone into the hedge—but not until (being in an unusually philosophical mood) you ask yourself what the three resolution principles would counsel you to do.

Start with the utilitarian principle. A quick assessment of consequences suggests that (1) the mall probably employs sweepers to clean up trash, and (2) the hedge is probably visited regularly by squirrels, birds, and ants, and (3) there's no one else around eating a cone. Your little butt-end will make hardly any difference to the hedge or to the general neatness of the mall: It will, in other words, be a largely inconsequential act. So throw it away.

Not so fast, remember, you are setting the standard for the entire world. Throw it in the hedge, and you must be prepared to have everyone, from now until eternity, chuck away the butt-ends of their ice-cream cones under hedges, until shoppers all across the malls of the world are up to their eyeballs in soggy cone-tips. An extreme example? Certainly. But it helps remind us that the only reason we feel we can "get away" with the utilitarian principle is that there are only a few others who will do what we've just done, and that our tiny act will be of small consequence in a large universe. Yet is that, the Kantian would ask, any reason to break rules? Is that really the way you want others to behave?

The point, here, is not to perform three tests and then vote to score a three-to-nothing or two-to-one victory. The point is to reason. The usefulness of these principles is not that they will deliver an airtight answer to your dilemma. No, the principles are useful because they give us a way to exercise your moral rationality. They provide different lenses through which to see our dilemmas, different screens to use in assessing them.
